

Picking two different relationships... One in which you (or someone close to you) experienced positive expectations/reactions toward unknown information and One in which you (or someone close to you) experienced negative expectations/reactions toward unknown information.

Analyze each according to Uncertainty Reduction Theory AND using what we've learned about Uncertainty Management.